The present disclosure provides a hair nourishment applicator and hair styling tool (100) that comprises one or more hollow chambers (102) contained inside a casing adapted to be held by a hand of a user. The one or more hollow chambers (102) are adapted to store one or more hair nourishing materials configured to be refilled through one or more openings of the one or more hollow chambers (102), the one or more openings being covered securely by one or more stoppers (104).
