(57) Abstract :
ABSTRACT The present disclosure introduces a medical data insight system representing a groundbreaking advancement in healthcare technology by offering a comprehensive system for managing patient medical data. This innovative system comprises of centralised data storage 102, block chain system 104, data analytics tools 106, governance module 108, user interface 110 and security module 112. By integrating these components, the system facilitates secure storage, real-time analysis, and regulatory compliance of patient data, empowering healthcare professionals to make informed decisions and optimize patient care delivery.
